Please join me for dinner at Maurice's 7PM.

At first, I was so excited – and thought, maybe this is it. I've relaxed enough to finally accept love. But when I thought about it, I realized that this guy was just trying to buy my interest. And the bracelet wasn't the most beautiful thing I'd ever seen; the sky yesterday evening was... or maybe the dolphins... or the way Bryan looked when he was teaching me to skip pebbles. The really special things didn't cost anything. I've decided to meet my secret admirer at Maurice's Bistro to return the gift.

February 23rd

I can't believe it! I had the most incredible time, it was so romantic! When I arrived Bryan was there. I handed him the box and said, "Please thank my secret admirer, but I'm not really interested. I had a better time with you than I could ever have wearing diamonds." He smiled, pulled me to him and kissed me! It was one of those kisses that you feel in every part of your body. I was quite literally dizzy when he finally

2061037718

2061037718

Source: https://www.industrydocuments.ucsf.edu/docs/yjfp0003